Missing persons draw $10,000 reward

by Marvin McLwain, Editor

Although there is no new evidence or evidence to indicate foul play is involved in the disappearance of six area individuals, Alabama Governor Don Siegelman has authorized a $10,000 reward.

In a press conference last Friday afternoon, Bruce Devane, chief investigator with the 12th Judicial District Attorney's Office, announced that the Governor, in an unprecedented move, announced the authorization of the reward via proclamation earlier in the day Friday.

numerous law enforcement agencies. Information was developed that the six individuals left the Hideaway Club located in Opp, Ala. at 3:15 on Saturday morning, May 8, 1999, en route back to the Stackhouse residence. This was the last known time of anyone seeing the missing individuals.

The vehicle the six were last seen traveling in is described as a 1986 four-door Chevrolet Caprice, Burgundy in color bearing Alabama license plate 34BM771. The vehicle is further described as having gold and chrome wheels. No direction of travel was given.

Federal authorities have also been briefed on the situation and military authorities at Fort Rucker have been instrumental in the numerous searches.

According to Capt. Bill Moore with the Enterprise Police Department, Ft. Rucker has alerted all of their flight personnel (training flight) as to the known circumstances of these disappearances, and they have been making extra observations during their missions; however, nothing has been spotted thus far.

According to Devane, Enterprise Police Chief T. D. Jones has been coordinating the investigation with the DA's Office for the past two weeks and working with them in an effort to obtain the reward offer. Due to no early indications of foul play in the disappearances, officials were hesitant to offer a reward in the case.

Also instrumental in obtaining the reward offer from the Governor's Office was Bill Cooper, president of the Enterprise City Council and Enterprise Mayor Johnny Henderson.

"It is unusual for that many people to come up missing and not be seen or heard from," said Cooper. "It seems to me like they just vanished off the face of the earth."

In addition to the Governor's reward, a local Enterprise minister, Reverend J. R. Mullins along with his wife, has offered a $500 reward. There is also an effort (filing of necessary paperwork) to have the details and descriptions of the missing persons featured on "America's Most Wanted," a national television program that publicizes unusual missing person cases.

Coffee County Sheriff Ben Moates said his department's reserve officers are systematically checking dirt roads and other county roads that are not heavily traveled looking for any indications that a vehicle might have left the roadway or might be parked in an out-of-the-way location. At the present time, they are concentrating on roads in the western portion of the county.

The following is a physical description of the missing persons: Reynolds is a black male, age 28, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds; Ward is a black female, age 25, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds; Young is a black female, age 26, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 275 pounds; Lee is a black female, age 27, 6 feet tall and weighs 160 pounds; Stackhouse is a black male, age 26, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds; and McCoy is a black female, age 26, 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds.

Anyone having any information about any of these missing persons or the circumstances concerning their disappearance is asked to contact the Enterprise Police Department at 347-1211 ext. 214, the District Attorney's office or the nearest law enforcement agency.

"This is a little unusual in that foul play has not been absolutely established, however, it is highly suspicious," Devane said. "In the event that it [foul play] has occurred and information is offered leading to the arrest and conviction of the perpetrator, then the reward would be in order."

The six individuals who are missing are: Lamar James Stackhouse, Angela Roberts Young, and Eula Jossett Lee all residents of Enterprise; James Anthony Reynolds of Webb, Ala.; Valerie Jones McCoy of Daleville, Ala.; and Tamara Monique Ward of Ozark, Ala.

An intense investigation has been ongoing since May 10, 1999 by Authorities say some aspects of the case that indicate "things are just not right" are: Young has never missed a day of work in seven years; McCoy has been married 18 months and the couple has five children, four of which are hers; and Ward has a three-month-old baby daughter and custody of her seven-year-old brother.

Since the majority of the individuals involved in the disappearance are from Enterprise, the Enterprise Police Department is coordinating the investigation with assistance from the Ozark, Level Plains and Opp police departments. The District Attorney's office and the Alabama Department of Public Safety are also involved in the D.A.R.E. DONATION...A local business recently donated three portable basketball goals, one to each of the elementary schools in the county school system. The donation was made in connection with the Coffee County Sheriff's Department/Coffee County Board of Education sponsored D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program in the county school system. According to County D.A.R.E. Officer Donnie Farris, approximately 160 students completed the course, and were graduated this year. This year marked the fourth year that the D.A.R.E. curriculum has been taught in county schools. Farris, on behalf of the sheriff's department, thanked the school board, each of the school's staffs and the parents for their support and cooperation. Pictured above, in the presentation of one of the basketball goals to the New Brockton Elementary School, are (l-r): Sheriff Ben Moates, Amanda Hornsby, Coach Bobby Kinsaul, Stephanie Hearold, Renee Cardwell, Dr. Irma Townsend (principal of New Brockton Elementary School), and D.A.R.E. Officer Donnie Farris.

VETERANS REMEMBERED...National Security's Veterans' Memorial Park was a very colorful place during the weekend and Monday. All the flags honoring all branches of the United States Armed Forces were flying and the border of the park was lined in American flags as well. The park is always a picturesque place but it was especially beautiful during this time as it was in full dress in honor of all those men and women, both living and dead, who have given of themselves so that this country, the United States of America, and its people might live in peace and freedom.

Mrs. Georgia Estelle Prestwood Sanders celebrates 100th birthday

by Marvin McLwain, Editor

There were several birthdays being celebrated at New Hope's Senior Citizens' Center last Friday, but there was one very "special lady" celebrating her 100th birthday a little early.

Mrs. Georgia Estelle Prestwood Sanders will make the century mark on June 4, 1999; however, she "allowed" the early celebration so that many of her friends and neighbors could enjoy the occasion with her. There will be a more formal celebration at her home in the Frisco Community (northeast Coffee County) on Saturday, June 5th.

The New Hope Center was filled to near capacity Friday with State Senator Jimmy Holley and Representative Terry Spicer fielding time in their busy schedule to bring a Certificate of Recognition from Governor Don Siegelman and a Resolution from the Alabama House of Representatives. Rep. Spicer made the presentation to Mrs. Sanders.

Mrs. Sanders' recipe for a long life is "Working hard and not worrying."

Joining in the joyous occasion were several of Mrs. Sanders' immediate family members, county officials and numerous friends.

Mildred Ziglar, director of the Center, said Mrs. Sanders has had a tremendous influence on her as well as many, many others. "She has that very special way of picking you up when you are feeling down," she said. "She is an inspiration to us all!"

The matriarch who remains very independent in her life style keeps on with what is happening around her, attends the senior center four times a week joining in all the activities and has never missed a seniors' outing.

Mrs. Sanders was born June 4, 1899 in Coffee County, the oldest of seven children. She married Junus Oliver Sanders in 1919, and they had nine children. Her number one job was homemaker. Mrs. Sanders has a younger sister - 93 years old - who lives in Brundidge.

According to family members, Mrs. Sanders has been looking forward to this milestone for quite some time. Her family and friends are already starting to talk about plans for Mrs. Sanders' 101st birthday celebration.

United States Mint has begun 10-year program honoring all 50 states

by Linda Hodge, Staff Writer

Although the main focus of 1999 has been on the end of the millennium, the year also has symbolized the beginning of a 10-year program honoring the 50 states of this country.

In a self-support program by the U.S. Mint, a series of quarter dollars with new reverse sides (tails) will be issued each year from 1999 until 2008. Five states will have their quarters released each year at separate times of the year. On December 1, 1997, President Clinton signed the 50 State Quarters Program Act which allows the redesign of the reverse side of the quarter dollar to be emblematic of each of the 50 states, according to information obtained from the U.S. Mint official website.

The states which will release their coins during 1999 include Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia and Connecticut. The coins from Delaware and Pennsylvania have already made their circulation appearance and received much attention from the public. And, the New Jersey quarter is scheduled for release this month. According to the information from the U.S. Mint, a new quarter will be released every 10 weeks for the next 10 years. The quarters are issued based on the date in which they proclaimed statehood. Therefore, according to U.S. History, the Alabama quarter will be the 22nd in release, which means the citizens of Alabama will have to wait until 2003 before seeing the emblematic quarter for their state.

Alabama will be the second state to release its design in 2003 after Illinois. Following Alabama during that year will be Maine, Missouri, and Arkansas.

However, citizens do not have to wait until 2003 to be involved in this enormous program. The design which are chosen for each state's quarter comes from the creative hands of the public. Citizens can submit a design which they feel is emblematic of the state and follows the design guidelines of the coin program to the governor of their respective state. The governor, with the assistance of the U.S. Mint, will

A retirement-related bill pending before the Alabama Senate has a lot of people in an uproar. This bill would allow firefighters some extra retirement pay as "hazardous duty pay." The individuals would put in some of the money, but some would also be contributed by the city employing them. One complaint against this is the suggestion that other public employees would also make the same request and the cost to the retirement system could be terrible. Firefighters argue that they deserve the extra retirement because of the chances they take and the hazards they are exposed to daily. Our bet is that this one will not become law, even though it has already passed the House of Representatives. The verbal excuse will be that time ran out, but the major reason will be the May 14th letter mailed to all Alabama Retirement System folks.

Memorial Day has been celebrated in America to varying degrees since right after the end of the Civil War. The actual beginning time and location are lost in history, but residents of various locations claim theirs to be home of the first people to honor those who made the supreme sacrifice for their country. Regardless of where it first started, the day has been an official national holiday longer than any of us have been on this earth and still the inspiration is as important as it was all those years ago. The percentage of people who were directly involved in defending our American freedom continues to decline, which is great. That in itself is something all Americans should be thankful for and pause to give thanks to those known veterans and the millions whose names they will never even know.

Last week we published another of our infamous errors. It wasn't until this Tuesday morning that we realized the mistake in printing the web site for Enterprise Electronics' weather radar. Someone asked what the letters stood for and it created a sudden sinking feeling in our stomach. Try them at www.eecradar.com. Last week we were short an "e" and had an extra "c." As one observer commented, "Hopefully that incorrect name is not one of those porn sites computer users have all stumbled on more often than any would like to admit."

The air war in Yugoslavia continues, as does the dialog over NATO's rights and/or objectives. None of it is helped by the reports of missile strikes mistakenly but repeatedly hitting hospitals, homes, bus loads of displaced families or foreign embassies. While it is true that ethnic Albanian citizens (as contrasted with the Serbs) are being killed in record numbers, just a couple of years ago it was the Serbs who were being killed in the same record numbers, simply because they were Serbs. It will be awful hard to enforce our will and/or our standards on these fiercely proud people, especially while we continue to have trouble defining our position to ourselves. Our position has long been one of defending our country and our friends whenever or however possible; but right now the world situation is looking a lot like the same old road map and same bumbling decision-makers which gave us the unwinable Vietnam War.

We were pleasantly pleased with the attendance at the Town Meeting last week. Elba had a larger turnout than did a similar meeting some months ago covering the entire county! Such activities will not result in instant solutions to any of the problems, but will guide community leaders in making their long-range plans for the future of the town. We salute the Long Range Planning Committee for the work they have done in the few short months since their appointment.

then review and select a winning design to be used on the quarter. A blank quarter reverse template and a list of the design guidelines can be downloaded from the U.S. Mint website at www.mint.gov.

While the reverse side of the coins will accommodate each state's design, the obverse (heads) side will continue to display the familiar image of George Washington. And, the United States Senate approved legislation for the program which allows the words "United States of America," "Quarter Dollar," "Liberty," and "In God We Trust" to be moved to the obverse side during the duration of this program to draw more room for state designs on the reverse (tails) side.

Remarkably, the quarters program represents the first change to the quarter since the production of the Bicentennial quarter in 1975-76, and it is considered as the largest coin collecting program in history. According to the U.S. Mint, not only is the program expected to produce direct earnings of more than an estimated $110,000,000 from the sale of silver proof coins and sets over the next 10 years, but it is considered as a way to get young people interested in collecting memorable tokens of all the States for the face value of the coins.

The 50 State Quarters are being manufactured at both the Philadelphia and Denver Mints, which produce all legal tender U.S. circulating coins. The coins are being distributed through the commercial banking system. As for the fans of the traditional "Eagle" quarters, they have ceased production of these quarters during the 50 State Quarters Program, but will resume its production at the end of this program in 2008.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Cox,

Thank you for your suggestion on putting Elba on the web site maps. As of this a.m. this has been completed and you can now see it on the 75 mile range maps that are on the web.

I understand that you went to school with Dick who is your Plant Manager. You will have to let him know that you had more influence with the Maplay than he has because you were able to get Elba on the map, and he has not been able to get Lockhart there yet. This has been our little joke every since we started this project. The Plant Manager cannot even get his hometown on the map. Thanks again for taking an interest in the weather on the web site and I hope that it will be a great help in forecasting the weather for your area and help to prevent another disaster for your city. When Mr. Collins suggested this, I was very glad to do it for you.

House Democrats Vote to Strengthen Crime Punishments

Democrats voted to strengthen penalties for crimes relating to sexual offenses, serial killing, DUI, and domestic violence this week. Working closely with the Governor's office, the House leadership compiled a crime legislation calendar that targets repeat offenders and juvenile crime.

"The seriousness with which these crime-fighting bills were drafted and debated reflects the House Democrats' commitment to keeping our families and children safe and helping our law enforcement officers to do their jobs," states Representative Terry Spicer (D-Elba). "This is the tip of the iceberg of what we hope we can accomplish over the next several years."

A most timely bill considered was HB 109 that increases the penalties for falsely reporting that a bomb or explosion. Sponsored by Representative Howard Hawk (D-Arb), the bill makes committing such an offense a class C felony that carries a minimum sentence of one year prison time. "In the wake of the Littleton, Colorado tragedy, two schools in Cullman had to be dismissed this week because of a prankster phoning in false bomb threats," states Representative Neal Morrison (D-Cullman). How can students learn when they don't feel safe and how can our law enforcement officers effectively serve when they are constantly mislead? It has to stop."

Among the list of crime legislation passed are: • HB 425 (Representative Bill Fuller D-LaFayette) updates the Community Notification Act - or

Rep. Terry Spicer

Megan's Law - to define when sex offender notice is appropriate for juvenile offenders.

• HB 426 (Representative Bill Fuller D-LaFayette) outlines those crimes for which a juvenile can be tried as an adult, and details the provisions related to doing so.

• HB 61 (Representative Neal Morrison D-Cullman) closes a loophole in the death penalty related to multiple and serial killing.

• HB 26 (Representative Blaine Gallaher D-Gadsden) defines and increases the criminal penalties for violating a protection order in a domestic violence case.

• HB 333 (Representative Patrick Jones D-Huntsville) enhances DUI penalties for persons convicted of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of a child under the age of 14 is in the vehicle at the time of the offense.

The package of bills moves to the Senate for consideration sometime in the coming weeks. Bill sponsors expect very little change, if any in the legislation.

Strength in Prayer

"I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also; I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also." (1 Corinthians 14:15)

Joni Eareckson Tada lives such an inspirational life of ministry today, it is often difficult for others to accept the fact that in the wake of her paralyzing accident, Joni experienced nearly three years of depression and suicidal despair. She finally reached the point where she prayed, "God, if I can't die, show me how to live, please!" Prayers of desperation do not need to be lengthy.

Things didn't change for Joni overnight, but they did begin to change. Very little about her situation changed, but her outlook - her attitude, her mind, her perspective, her spirit - began to change and grow. She knew with an increasing assurance that God would help her learn how to do what seemed to be impossible; handle life in a wheelchair.

Are you facing a seemingly impossible situation today? Do you feel as if any option you have is one you don't like, and which can't bring you any sense of peace or reward? Perhaps it's time to pray with strength. "God show me how to live in the midst of this situation." Accepting God's help in coping with the despair and hopelessness of a situation is very often the first step God uses in preparing us to live a new way - a way that is far beyond mere coping. His way is always one of true fulfillment and joy. With God, strength in prayer is better than length in prayer.

THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz

School got out last week and Melanie's case of boredom came to a remarkable end at the same time the city pool opened for the summer. She has been a water bug ever since she was old enough to jump in by herself, and Saturday was at the pool for almost eight hours. Whether she is swimming, jumping off the board or just splashing around, she is at home in the water.

DUSTING OFF THE DESK....

 The various baseball and softball leagues got in a busy week of action last week, with only one night of action being hampered by rain. The Dixie Minor and Dixie Youth leagues will get really busy this week when the teams all hit the field on Saturday to get in some games that had been postponed, while the softball leagues are winding down and will announce All-Star teams next week for tournament play. School has been out for only two weeks and the season is already winding down. It may sound strange to some, but for the coaches that have to scramble for players now that vacation has started, the season comes to an end at just the right time. Hey, when I was young I enjoyed my visits to my grandparents and other kin-folk just as much as playing ball, and I'm sure the kids of today also want time to do both!

 The very mention of selecting All-Star teams gets the players and their parents all upset, and while there is no "best" way to pick the All Stars, I can assure you that everyone involved in the recreation department and all the coaches have been discussing the method to be tried out this season. Too many times coaches choose players based upon who they are, or who their parents are, instead of how well the players have performed over the course of the season, and the results are very obvious when the tournaments roll around and the teams hit the field. The exact method to be used will be chosen this week, and I am sure some very deserving players will once again be left out. Please remember, not everyone can be an All Star, and all a player can do is his or her best.

 The All-American "All County" baseball and softball teams are in this week's paper, and I'd like to thank the coaches and umpires that helped make this team possible. While some deserving players may have been omitted, maybe once this annual honor gains in prestige the coaches will get even more involved and send in detailed stats. The players deserve the honor, and you have got to start somewhere.

 The Birmingham News published its annual "All Sports" winners among state high schools last week and with four girls state championships and two boys state titles the top honor went to St. Paul's, of Mobile. The all sports winner was based upon state finish in the 20 state championship sports sponsored by the AHSAA, with points being awarded for top 10 finishes. I will take a closer look at the overall list next week, but it was interesting that private schools accounted for 12 of the top 25 schools, including 3 of the top 4 finishers and 6 of the top 10.

Sixteen county prep softball players chosen for 1999 "All Coffee County" softball team

Coffee County has been rich in tradition in high school girls softball for many years, and by taking a quick look at the 1999 "All Coffee County" High School Softball Team, it appears that the sport will be alive and well for many years to come.

The 1999 "All County" team, selected through nominations by area coaches and umpires, includes sixteen high school players from across Coffee County. Of that honored list, only four players are seniors and nine are juniors, with the remaining players coming from grades eight through ten.

Following is the 1st annual "All Coffee County" softball team: PITCHER - MELISSA MULARZ, ELBA... a sophomore, Mularz has been a starter for the Lady Tigers for the past four years, three years as a pitcher. Considered one of the state's top slow pitch pitchers by umpires and coaches alike, Mularz also batted over .500 this season at the plate and was dangerous with her liners up the middle.

CATCHER - LESLIE STINSON, ELBA... a junior, Stinson moved back behind the plate at the midway point of the season and solidified the Lady Tigers attack. An aggressive line drive hitter, Stinson batted .491 for the Lady Tigers, and made opposing runners think twice before heading for the plate.

Elba native honored in Texas

George W. Johnson Jr., retired engineer and army officer, was honored by the US Army Corps of Engineers in Dallas, Texas on May 21, 1999. Johnson, who retired almost 10 years ago, was inducted into the Gallery of Distinguished Employees. This is the ultimate honor an engineer division can bestow. The inductee's portrait will hang permanently and prominently in his name and significant accomplishments will be made a part of the official history of the organization. He is a native of Elba and graduated with the Class of 1952. He holds degrees from Auburn University, University of Texas at Dallas, and Amber University. Johnson was recognized for 32

Among many accomplishments mentioned in the ceremony, he was credited with "bringing the 8-state Southwestern Division into the computer age and leading the way for the rest of the Corps of Engineers to follow." He was thanked for his leadership and personal actions in developing the first operations and maintenance applications of desktop computers to interface with the mainframes, and the 4-H'ers learn to build and control the fire, when to put the chicken on, how to turn the chicken without tearing the skin, how to determine the doneness and when to put on the sauce.
